A MURDERER'S DEFENSE.

"Casey Got Off All Right and I Guess I Will, Too."

The Deliberate Murder of a Landlord By a Student Whom He Threatened to Elect a Member of the Board of Trustees for Judges and Jurors.

New York, June 24.—Peter McCormack, an old and highly respected resident of Hunter's Point, owned a number of houses there, and one of them, a saloon in Ferry street, was occupied by Patrick Kernan. Kernan failed to pay last month's rent, and McCormack had notified him that he must vacate the premises before 12 o'clock Sunday. Kernan called upon McCormack at his residence. He was told that the gentleman was in the basement. McCormack was sitting in the hallway talking to McCormack when Kernan came in the front door. McCormack saw him and said: "Hello, Kernan; what you come into the dining-room?"

"I'm going to get you out of that place, Kernan."

In an instant the response followed: "That you or I have got to see."

A report succeeded and McCormack came running into the hallway, threw up his arms and said:

"He fell and never spoke again. Kernan fainted out of the room and escaped into the street. McCormack called to him and Kernan pointed the revolver at him and said, 'I'll give it to you, too, if you follow me.'"

The man was sober and seemed to know perfectly well what he was doing. The report of the pistol shot and the cry of his daughter attracted the attention of John A. Vorhees, a gentleman who lives opposite. He ran out of his house and gave chase to the murderer. Kernan pointed his pistol at his pursuer but he kept on after him until he reached a more thickly settled neighborhood and raising a bus and carrying Kernan finally overhauled and locked up. He seemed unconscious. He arrived in this country from Ireland about a year ago.

When it was found that Mr. McCormack was dead, a servant girl ran to St. Mary's church and told the priest that McCormack and his little eight year old boy were receiving communion. The informed Father Maguire and he told Mr. McCormack to return home as soon as possible. The poor lady walked out, followed by the servant. When she reached the sidewalk the servant informed her of the death of her husband. She fell unconscious to the ground. Kind hands placed her in a coach and she was driven to her home and placed in bed. McCormack's blood still oozing from the wound caused by the bullet. The walls of the wife will never be forgotten by the man who tried to shoot her.

McCormack tried to stop the flow of blood and screamed: "Speak to me, Peter, speak to me, Peter, I am dying!"

At the moment the coroner summoned a jury of the leading citizens and after viewing the remains abandoned the inquest until Friday.

When the trial of the shooting got abroad at Hunter's Point the widest excitement prevailed and ominous threats were heard from the crowds around the building, and the Sheriff arrived about 4 o'clock, accompanied by Sheriff Simpson, Sheriff Warnock and a reporter. "There is a good deal of excitement, but there will be no attack on the jail."

At the trial of the case of the oldest, wealthiest and most respected citizens of Hunter's Point. He had been employed as an inspector of the city for many years and had accumulated a fortune and owned a large property in Hunter's Point. Kernan told the jury that he had committed the crime. "I'll not say that," said "until I see my counsel. Casey got off all right, and I guess I will, too."

The case of the case is the following, taken from Sunday morning's New York Sun:

The trial of Patrick Casey for the murder of Sergeant Cummings was continued yesterday in Long Island City. Mrs. Casey, the prisoner's wife, testified that she had thought for a number of years that her husband was insane. Dr. J. H. Ten on, of Hempstead, testified, after having the hypothetical question read to him by the District Attorney, that in his opinion when Casey fired the shot he was sane. At ten minutes past 5 o'clock the jury retired to deliberate on the verdict.

After being out three hours it returned. Casey looked nervous. He held his youngest daughter in his lap, and gazed intently on the twelve men. County Judge Smith, the Master of the Court, called the jury to the jury, and the foreman replied that they had agreed upon a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. Casey kissed his wife, his mother and wife. Justice Bartlett sentenced him to Sing Sing for life.

ONLY A POOR MAN.

But He Hath Power to Stop a Whole City.

New York, June 24.—Two weeks ago boss plumber John Turney discharged his journeyman John Ledy for quitting work an hour too early. Twenty-two other journeymen in the shop deeming Ledy's discharge unjust, struck Turney belonging to the Master Plumbers' Association. This morning forty-eight shops owned by members of the Master Plumbers' Association locked out the journeymen and refuse to re-employ them unless Turney's man return to work. Turney will not re-employ Ledy. The Master Plumbers refuse to employ any members of the Journeymen's Union until the lockout ends. Ledy refuses to work for anyone but Turney.

STARTED FOR THE CEMETERY.

Sad Drowning of a Young Lady at Gretna, Louisiana.

New Orleans, June 24.—Yesterday afternoon a young lady, who occurred in the rear of the town Gretna, opposite this city, which plunged the community in grief. One of the effects of the crevasse in the Mississippi River at Davis' plantation, was to force through an immense volume of back water, which filled up the swamps in the rear of Gretna and Algiers. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning two young ladies, Catherine Barrett, aged nineteen, and Agnes Kernan, sixteen years old, got into a perogoe and paddled out to the river, intending to visit the cemetery and put flowers on the grave of a relative. At a point where the water is seven feet deep the perogoe rolled over and Miss Barrett must immediately and was drowned. Miss Kernan clung to the dug-out and was rescued. Hundreds of men, it being Sunday, were quick to volunteer and the body was soon recovered and removed to the house of her parents.

CRIME OF A FIEND.

Abducting a Bride for the Purpose of Outrage.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 24.—Wm. Jones and bride, who were married in Latin America, were waiting at the depot last night for an accommodation train to Louisville. When they were approached by "Everhart," a well known character. Everhart produced a bogus telegram, calling for Jones' arrest, and told the latter to jump on the next train for Louisville. Jones did so, but missed his hold, fell and was badly injured. Everhart then showed her to a hotel, but instead of taking her to the hotel he took her to Reservoir Hill, an unfrequented part of the city. Everhart then assaulted the bride, choking and badly bruising her. He then carried her to a house where he lived with neighbors came to the rescue. The whole town is seething with indignation, and will be summarily treated if caught.

COMMUNITY TERRORIZED.

An Assassin Who Proposes to Kill All Who Oppose Him.

Galveston, June 24.—At Big Swamp the assassination of Hyman is being reviewed and fears are expressed that there will be a tragic sequel. Three citizens of that place, J. M. Walker, G. W. Walther and J. E. J. Treadwell have been receiving anonymous letters from a person who threatens to kill them, stating that he would make away with them at the earliest convenience. It seems that the man is preparing to murder these men because they denounced the assassination of Hyman in an indignation meeting held here last night.

These men are thoroughly aroused, and should either of them be murdered there will be a hot time. The people are actually afraid to go out at night, and there are very few people on the streets after dark, and shotguns and six shooters are in demand.

Against Cleveland.

Washington, June 24.—There is a report among Democratic Congressmen and other Democrats that they are preparing to meet in New York City this week for the purpose of opposing the re-election of President Cleveland.

The movement is supposed to be intended as an inauguration of an opposition to Governor Cleveland's re-election. People are being incited by a desire to justify a rebellion against the rule in the New York State.

Died Entirely Too Early.

MOONSHINE, Mo., June 24.—Sheriff C. P. Chandler, of Linn County, Kansas, with two deputies, have been tracking Lewis Wampler, who murdered the Anderson family, and a person named "Pecos" Kansas, three weeks ago. Yesterday the party came upon Wampler in the purness of the moonshine. Wampler was shot and killed. The body was brought here and sent to Pleasanton.

A Reciprocity Treaty.

Ottawa, June 24.—It is reported that the Government has arranged a reciprocity treaty with the United States shortly to be made public. The new treaty will follow the lines of the former reciprocity treaty, admitting natural products and raw materials from the United States.

The defeat of the Morrison Tariff Bill in the United States House of Representatives has been largely due to the renewal of negotiations.

Traveling for His Health.

BELLAIRE, O., June 24.—Patrick Joyce, of this city, was arrested at Queensbury, England, Saturday, with a curiously constructed brass hat and a "Pecos" coat, ten days ago, with his wife and child, ostensibly for his health, on money raised by the sale of his property in the mill. He has been in country two years.

Gas Well Exciting Speculation.

STREUNVILLE, O., June 24.—At 10 o'clock this morning a big flow of gas was struck at Jefferson Iron Works well. It is claimed that the gas is of a high quality, and the big wells at Wellburg. The roar of escaping gas can be heard a quarter of a mile. Speculation is excited as it will be an important manufacturing enterprise to locate here.

Ohio Democrats.

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—The Democratic State Convention will convene in Columbus, Ohio, Saturday, June 25. A large delegation have arrived. John R. Meade, of the Enquirer, came up to-night and, it is said, proposes to wind up by making himself elected at-large to Chicago.

CRIMES IN WALL STREET.

And the Greatest of Them is the Hypocrisy of Men.

Severe Criticisms on the Conduct of Commodore Garrison and Parson White in Their Dealings With Their Fellow Men.

New York, June 24.—The Sun to-day says: If something more was wanted finally to disgust everybody with Wall street and frighten him away from it, this something was actually done last week. The failure of men reputed to be such millionaires is in itself a strong disturbing element. But what the very possibility of their failure is indignantly denied by the failing men themselves within a few hours of their making an assignment, the business community is placed in the position of a paymaster's heavily laden chest carried into the camp of cowboys and road agents. The commotion produced by the circumstances of Commodore Garrison's failure was of the most alarming character. When Commodore Garrison's failure was announced, the whole business edifice of a community tumbled to pieces. When it became evident that no plain, truthful statement of facts from any millionaire, bank president or railroad president can be obtained, every man of sound mind looks up in his safe the ready cash he has got, and sends it to some safe place.

Every business except that of which he has absolute control himself. It is the fact of the day. The failure of men, presidents, and lying railroad magnates that the denials are now accepted as confirmation. The monetary failure created in the six-k month morning has, it seems, also postponed the collapse of two or three important Wall street failures. But the last week has suggested the probability of our hearing of this to-day or to-morrow.

It is to be feared that Deacon White & Co. have played their little game once too often. Saturday's sudden collapse of the firm, after the sudden boom engineered by Deacon White & Co. to induce the public to indicate it quite clearly. Deacon White is altogether too inexperienced in this game. His failure should be played in a gentler way, as Jay Gould plays it. Gould would never have allowed Missouri Pacific to jump up as it did Saturday. Deacon White had not forced his hand by the Lackawanna deal. THE Louisville Times has been looking into Mr. Blaine's war record. It says: The Knightliness upon which James G. Blaine plumes himself was never more fully illustrated than when, during his country's greatest peril, he went to the rear and gallantly hired a substitute.

Too Sensitive.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

There is something in the apparition of a plump young woman in a tight-fitting, flesh-colored jersey standing or sitting at a window or perched on the front stoop on these warm evenings calculated to make the fringe of hair on a bald man's head rise up, and to put a sensitive young man in a nervous perspiration. There is a realism about it that tends to communicate a slight shock at first sight of shrinking nature. The general adoption of the color for jerseys is likely to have a distressing effect on the eyes of young men, as an inclination to keep them fixed on nowhere and nothingness or to cast them in blinding modesty on the ground is already noticeable.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—After the call of States in the House Mr. Randall, by order of the Appropriations Committee, asked unanimous consent to suspend the rules to pass the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill, with the right reserved to vote on some half a dozen amendments. After a brief debate the rules were suspended and the clerk began reading the bill.

Mr. Hale offered a resolution directing the Committee on Expenditure of Public Money to investigate the recent defalcations at the Department in all the departments in Washington and the alleged frauds on the Government by means of false vouchers in the Navy Department.

Mr. Ingalls said some radical defects must exist in the system of Departmental accounts, which permitted such peculations. He hoped the investigation would be broad and thorough. The resolution was adopted.

The House bill authorizing the Chairman of the sub-committee or any member of either House to administer the oath, was passed.

Mr. Frye introduced a bill authorizing the appointment of a Commission of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers to examine the new designs for steamships.

A bill granting the right of way through the Indian Territory to the Southern Kansas Railroad was passed.

Mr. Plumb gave notice that to-morrow he will move to take up the bill to forfeit the unearned land grants of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

Consideration of the Mexican Pension Bill was resumed the pending question being an amendment of Mr. Ingalls to remove the limitation from the arrears of pensions act.

Mr. Sherman opposed this proposition. He said it involved a large sum of money. His feelings were with the Union soldiers, but this amendment affected all the interests of the people and he was bound to consider the common good. This was not the time to make such an enormous demand on the Treasury. "We are now," said the Senator, "in times of pinch. Our revenues are falling off. The shrinkings of values within the past year has been enormous and is going on day by day. At this time the uncertainties of which no man can doubt, the severity of which no man can doubt, we should not be called upon to assume a liability which would involve the enormous sum mentioned in the debate."

JUDGE HILTON FAILED

His Embarrassment Due to Speculation in West Shore.

New York, June 24.—Rumor reached the street shortly after noon, to the effect that ex-Judge Hilton, of the late firm of A. F. Stewart & Co., had failed. It is said the embarrassment is due to an unfortunate speculation in West Shore stocks. Hilton was seen by a reporter at his office, but refused to speak, saying he had no information for the press.

A MURDER AVENGED,

Which, However, Was the Result of the Laxity of the Law.

SILVERTON, Colo., June 24.—This village was startled yesterday by a report that ex-marshal Cain had been shot. He had shot and killed Billy Wilson, on the Chattanooga Road, near Butte City, seven miles from Silverton. This was found to be true, and Justice Earl, with six jurymen, brought the body to town, where a secret inquest was held. Cain is a brother of Marshal Cain of Denver, who a short time ago shot Riley Lambert on slight provocation, for which offense he was never tried. Wilson had $750, a silver watch and other articles of value on his person when found. His horse was found a few feet away, shot in the heart. As he was some feet from the body, Sheriff Sullivan has appointed Cain a Deputy sheriff, and more trouble may come.

ALIVE IN THE GRAVE.

Evidence of What Must Have Been a Horrible Awakening.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 24.—One of those ghastly stories of interment before life has become extinct is current in this city this morning. Last May, three months after marriage, a young lady whose name is withheld, died after a lingering illness. Her body was placed temporarily in the family lot. A short time since, when the body was disinterred for final burial, there was unmistakable evidence of a desperate struggle. The body was found lying face down, with the hands flung with hair torn from the head of the entombed victim in despair at the failure to escape from a terrible fate. The family of the unfortunate young lady are nearly crazed with grief.

He twisted around as he mopped his brow, in all kinds of odd positions. And remarked in a drowsy melting tone of "the singular thermal conditions." "The air in this thermal region," he said "is so hot as to be mopped." But he might as well have spoken the words, "It's getting as hot as the devil."

The frame work of Mr. A. Schaffer's new residence in East Mayville is going up to-day.

The Mayville hog wallows are blooming out magnificently during this spell of torrid weather.

THE business men of Mayville, we are gratified to announce, are responding promptly and liberally in the matter of the opera house scheme. Several lists in the hands of the committee have already been filled. Our citizens are greatly indebted to the firmen and they are now have the opportunity to pay part of the debt.

THE Portsmouth Times thus speaks of Hauke's band of this city: The Mayville band played Dixie as it marched from the hall of the Knights Templar, to the boat, at midnight, last Thursday. The youth, beauty and chivalry of our sister city across the border are proud of their band, and well they may be, for all its notes harmonize with sweet accord.

MAYVILLE bicyclists are warned to be on the lookout. Here what the Wheelman's Gazette says: Adown the sloping country lane the wheelman wheeled on his wheel, With speed of a wild hurricane. As spun the pedals like a reel, Crouched in a corner of the fence, The ambushed spy lay low in wait, Ready to suddenly spring them and hurl the victim to his fate. The wheelman came—"Boo-hoo! oo-hoo!" The old hog jumped into the way; Full ninety feet the wheelman flew, And wheeled his wheel no more that day.

To the Public.
The undersigned has been named by the managers of the Southern Exposition as commissioner for this county for the exhibition of 1894. State appropriations.—The State of Kentucky has made an appropriation of $10,000 for the purpose of fostering and assisting the counties in making a favorable display of the resources of the State. This sum is placed under the control of a Commission, of which the State Geologist is Chairman, and a portion of it will undoubtedly be set apart for the benefit of this county. Kentucky's opportunity—Kentucky, so great in her resources, has never had an opportunity like the present for demonstrating to the world the extent and richness of those resources, as this is the first organized effort ever made by the State at large to secure proper display of its immense capacities. For the whole people.—This opportunity is not for one section of the State, but for the whole people of Kentucky. It will present our State with all its wealth, resources, and attractions before the world, and will give each county its proper place in the grand aggregation. The county that most interests itself in the effort will make the best showing for its means and will be judged accordingly. It is, therefore, every one's interest to make the best display we can. A great Exposition.—The managers of the Southern Exposition have added new and wonderful attractions to the display this year, and every citizen of Kentucky will feel a just pride in the continued success of this, the largest exposition ever successfully organized and maintained in this country, except the Centennial of 1876. It is estimated that the admissions of Kentucky people alone will number over 500,000, and on the basis of last year's admissions and the new attractions that the general admissions will number 1,500,000. Our County—Our county should make a creditable display. We have plenty of resources, and with co-operation of all our people we can make a splendid exhibit. We ask suggestions and contributions from every spirited citizen of the county, and we hope this county and State will be heartily seconded by our people. For any special information write to Bennett H. Young, President, or J. M. Wright, General Manager, Southern Exposition, at Louisville, Ky., or apply to any of the Commissioners. J. D. Keizer, Mayville, Ky. Commissioner for County of Mason

A Way to Grow Wise.
St. Nicholas for July.
After reading a book, or an article, or an item of information from any reliable source, before turning your attention to other things, give two or three minutes' quiet thought to the subject that has just been presented to your mind; see how much you can remember concerning it; and if there were many new ideas, instructive facts or points of especial interest that impressed you as you read, force yourself to recall them. It may be a little troublesome at first until your mind gets under control and learns to obey you will, but the very effort to think it in will engrave the facts deeply upon the memory, so deeply that they will not be effaced by the rushing in of a new subject. There are but three sure ways to form the good habit, then, of always reviewing what has just been read. It exercises and disciplines the mental faculties, strengthens the memory and teaches concentration of thought. You will soon learn, in this way, to think and reason intelligently, to separate and classify different kinds of information; and in the mind, instead of being a lumber room in which the various contents are thrown together in careless confusion and disorder, will become a store house where every special class or item of knowledge, neatly labeled, has its own particular place and is ready for use the instant there is need of it.

The medical press is beginning to run the old story, true or false, about the late Dr. James R. Wood. It appears that the Doctor was surrounded by a group of surgeons at Bellevue, to whom he gave this dictum: "There are but three sure ways to form the good habit, then, of always reviewing what has just been read. It exercises and disciplines the mental faculties, strengthens the memory and teaches concentration of thought. You will soon learn, in this way, to think and reason intelligently, to separate and classify different kinds of information; and in the mind, instead of being a lumber room in which the various contents are thrown together in careless confusion and disorder, will become a store house where every special class or item of knowledge, neatly labeled, has its own particular place and is ready for use the instant there is need of it."

LAW IN KENTUCKY AND IOWA.

To-morrow morn the Parson will be asking "what is the law?" Why, law is something, formerly. But, as amended and revised—law is a bit of the law of the land. And simply say, what we call law. Ain't that what it is?
—MAYVILLE BULLETIN.

It exercises and disciplines the mental faculties, strengthens the memory and teaches concentration of thought.
